

What we do today is but a small token of our appreciation for all that you are doing for us. You have left families, friends and homes to come to Tennessee and North Carolina to do a work that is done in great peril. To you it may be just a job to get I-40 open once again, but to the people in this two state area the closing of I-40 has been an economic disaster. We applaud your efforts and pray that the remainder of your work will be accomplished safely and that you might soon return to the love of your families once again.
